

I had been looking forward to the great Wigwam Tour all summer, and most of all to listen to my favorite band D-A-D. But then during my vacation I accidentally heard on the radio that the whole tour was off! The summer was ruined and I just looked sadly at my worthless ticket.

But luck found us after all, my friend and I went to the making up concert at 10-øren at Amager. The atmosphere was great and I knew the day would end in a big bang - D-A-D closing the event.

And we really were enjoying, singing, clapping, and yelling, it was fantastic! But the climax of the evening really came when Jesper shouted out "Det er de rigtige der er her i dag", we all went crazy and everything went to a higher level that day.
